SARA R. COLLINS is vice president for Health Care Coverage and Access program at The Commonwealth Fund. An economist, Dr. Collins joined the Fund in 2002 and has led the Fund's national program on health insurance since 2005. Since joining the Fund, Dr. Collins has led several national surveys on health insurance and has authored numerous reports, issue briefs and journal articles on health insurance coverage and policy. She has provided invited testimony before several congressional committees and subcommittees. Prior to joining the Fund, Dr. Collins was associate director/senior research associate at the New York Academy of Medicine, Division of Health and Science Policy. Earlier in her career, she was an associate editor at U.S. News & World Report, a senior economist at Health Economics Research, and a senior health policy analyst in the New York City Office of the Public Advocate. She holds an A.B. in economics from Washington University and a Ph.D. in economics from George Washington University.

JUSTINE HANDELMAN is vice president, legislative and regulatory policy, for the Blue Cross Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), a national federation of 36 independent, community-based and locally operated Blue Cross and Blue Shield companies. In this role, Ms. Handelman oversees federal legislative and regulatory policy development for BCBSA, working on a broad range of issues important to Blue Cross and Blue Shield companies, including health care reform, health information technology, government programs (Medicare, Medicaid, SCHIP, FEHBP), and delivery system reform. She also currently serves on the board of directors for URAC. Prior to joining BCBSA in April 2001, Ms. Handelman was the director of the Health Care Practice Group in the Government Relations Division of SmithBucklin. In this capacity, she was responsible for the day-to-day government relations activities for several non-profit professional medical specialty societies and healthcare organizations. Before SmithBucklin, Ms. Handelman served as a senior legislative associate of MARC Associates, Inc. Ms. Handelman received her bachelor's degree in political science from the Catholic University of America.

KEVIN LUCIA is a research professor and project director at Georgetown University's Health Policy Institute (HPI). As part of a specialized research team, Mr. Lucia conducts extensive legal analysis on how states and the federal government regulate private health insurance with a focus on access, affordability and adequacy of coverage. Mr. Lucia's research includes analysis of state and federal laws, pending legislation, and current market practices related to private health insurance. His current research agenda is focused entirely on federal and state implementation of the Affordable Care Act. Mr. Lucia returned to HPI in 2011, after directing the State Compliance Division within the Office of Oversight, Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight (CCIIO), Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services. Mr. Lucia holds his J.D. from The George Washington University Law School and an M.H.P. from Northeastern University.

CORI UCCELLO is an actuary and the senior health fellow at the American Academy of Actuaries. She serves as the actuarial profession's chief public policy liaison on health issues. In this role, she promotes the formulation of sound health policy by providing nonpartisan technical assistance to federal and state policymakers and regulators. Ms. Uccello currently helps lead the Academy's efforts to provide guidance to federal and state regulators regarding the implementation of various provisions in the Affordable Care Act, including those related to coverage and market reforms, actuarial value, and risk-sharing mechanisms. She is also actively involved in the Academy's efforts to encourage policymakers to improve Medicare's financial condition and recently completed two terms serving as a commissioner on the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPAC). Prior to joining the Academy, Ms. Uccello was a senior research associate at the Urban Institute, where she focused on health insurance and retirement policy issues. She is a graduate of Boston College and received a master's degree in public policy from Georgetown University.
