FOR HEALTH POLICY

BIPARTISAN LEARNING COMMUNITIES
CONGRESSIONAL FELLOW

What's a health policy issue that personally motivates you?

Women's needs are often overlooked and underfunded. I am motivated to expand women's access to comprehensive health care – from more investments in research for conditions disproportionately impacting women, to equitable access to reproductive health care, to affordable health coverage, and beyond.

What's one thing you've learned during this fellowship that will stick with you?

There can be several ways to address an issue in health policy, and it is essential to have varying perspectives and knowledge of the history of an issue to work out the best path forward.

What does leadership look like to you at this stage in your career?

Leadership looks like being able to accept when one has made a mistake and being able to identify a solution, as that is the only way to learn, improve, and grow in one's career.
